FREQUENTLY ASKED questions

What grades is this best for?

It was designed for high school students. However, it should still work for middle school students. Be sure to examine the preview and product description closely to decide if this resource is a good fit for your students.

Is this editable?

The outlining and rubric forms are available in print PDF and an editable Google Doc file that can be customized to meet your student's needs. The how-to reference sheets are available in print PDF and non-editable Google Slides.

Can I use this in a homeschooling setting?

Definitely! Step-by-step forms for outlining and editing forms and detailed how-to sheets and sample essay guide you and your student(s) through this complete writing process for this writing format and skills.

What standards does this support?

Several! This kit supports writing, research, and social studies standards from various states, including:

- Develop writing by planning, revising, and editing
- Introduce, develop, and support a claim with relevant evidence
- Follow proper grammar and punctuation conventions
- Produce clear and coherent writing that is appropriate to the task, purpose, and audience
